Passing the Azergues valley, the <<Tuscanny of the Beaujolais>> (so called due to the “golden stones”, quarried out and used for constructions in this area – the “golden stone” is a shell limestone, coloured by ferrous oxides, whose facets reflect the light to form its beautiful ochre...) – A stop in the medieval village d’Oingt, before continuing the journey in the direction of Vaux-en-Beaujolais. This community is also well known under the name <<Cloche-Merle>>, so mentioned in a French novel dealing with controversial plans to install a public convenience for gentlemen (Pissoir) in the village square, just opposite the church.

A lunch meal before continuing the journey in direction of Grands Crus du Beaujolais (vineyards of great wines like Fleurie, Chirouble, Saint Amour etc.). Possibly wine tasting in a cellar. Each of the 10 Crus (high class wines) have a different variety of flavour, due to the respective site.

The town of Annecy today has approximately 53.000 citizens who are called the “Annéciens and Annéciennes”. It is situated in the Département of Haute Savoie in the south-east of France in the region Rhône-Alpes and is bordered by numerous communities. Annecy is also known as: The Venice of the Alps, the Savoyen Jewel and also the Rome of the Alps.

Lunch meal. Then at your leisure you can enjoy the old town of Annecy with an optional boat trip on the lake.

16.00 hrs Depart for Lyon and evening meal.

> Day 4 - Friday August 31st 2012 - Visit to Lyon

Breakfast in the hotel

09.00 hrs. Depart for a guided visit to Lyon (Département of Rhône)

Lyon is called the cold one, but she is nothing but discreet ; people call her bourgeois, but she also is the jokey one (which means that Lyon’s people have a sense of criticism and wit) along with epicure (reference to the good food) !

Between the winding Saône and the powerful Rhône Lyon cultivates the paradoxical taste. The capital of the Gauls has kept the spirit of the silk weavers (being a labour of love for silk and exquisit material), stunning the pedestrians with its luminous elegance, to lose them in its obscure passageways.

Using the metro and local buses you will be able to visit <<Fourvière>>, its basilica, its gallo-roman theatre – <<Place Saint Jean>> and the old Lyon – its streets and its stores – its rivers Rhône and Saône. Etc.>>

Continuation of day 4

Lunch meal –

Continuation of the visit.

A reception with personages is intended (uniform requested).

Evening meal – exchange of presents.

> Day 5 - Saturday September 1st 2012 - Visit to Vienne

Breakfast in the Hotel

Departure by train to the town of Vienne (Département Isère) <<Rome in Isère>> Eclipsed by Lyon, crossed by the national route 7, the capital of the Allobroges (antique Gaulish people) has been unjustly under estimated. A tour of the town centre will repair this false impression : In a small area there are ancient remains closely situated to the medieval houses and also to the Renaissance facades, facing the 19th century. Vienne possesses an exceptional extraordinary heritage of archaeology, architecture and antique furniture, demonstrated by 41 historic monuments, 4 municipal museums with their rich collections, plus the biggest market in the region.
